

Engineering Science

Kathryn W. Jablokow, Ph.D. Dean

Richard Carbonaro, Ph.D., P.E., Associate Dean

Engineering sciences are the bridge between the basic sciences and mathematics and applied engineering design. Courses include those fundamental to all engineering, such as statics, dynamics, mechanics, thermodynamics, materials, and electrical systems. The courses also include specialty topics related to professional development.