

International Student Services

The office of International Student and Scholar Services provides services for Manhattan University students and scholars who are in the United States on non-immigrant F and J visas. These services are designed to aid their transition and study in New York City. Services include issuing required federal visa documents; assisting with immigration regulations governing enrollment, employment and travel, and sharing information on a variety of related issues. The office conducts an orientation session for all new international students and scholars in August and in January, and available to connect students with on and off campus resources.

International students and scholars on non-immigrant visas are required to visit the office of International Student and Scholar Services when they arrive on campus, and are encouraged to maintain close contact with the office throughout their time at the University. The office is located in Miguel 100. For further information, contact the Director of International Student and Scholar Services at (718) 862-7741.
